Course Description

The world of business involves relations between different groups of individuals. This world has stockholders, board members, corporate managers, employees, suppliers, customers and those in the local community of a corporation. Since the actions, and policies governing the actions, of individuals in one group will impact those in other groups, it is open to us to morally evaluate such actions and policies. For instance is it permissible for, or perhaps even a duty of, corporate managers to serve only the interests of stockholders? Does an employee have an obligation to reveal corporate wrongdoing? Do marketers serve a socially valuable function? This course will address such issues. The final grade will be determined by three in class tests and one take home test. The tests involve writing essays on assigned topics. A drop box will be set up in the Philosophy Department (12th floor, Social Science Building) for you to submit your take home test. Take home tests will not be accepted via email under any circumstances. Missed in class tests and late take home tests will be assigned a grade of zero unless a university approved justification is promptly provided. There is no registrar-scheduled final exam for this course.

Test 1	January 27	25 %
Test 2	February 24	25 %
Test 3	March 16	25%

Academic Honesty

Cheating or plagiarism on any assignment or examination is regarded as an extremely serious academic offence, the penalty for which may be an F on the assignment, an F in the course, academic probation, or requirement to withdraw from the University. See the relevant sections on 'Academic Misconduct' in the current University Calendar. Intellectual honesty requires that your work include adequate referencing to sources. Plagiarism occurs when you do not acknowledge or correctly reference your sources. If you have questions about correct referencing, consult your instructor.

Academic Accommodation

Students seeking an accommodation based on disability or medical concerns should contact Student Accessibility Services. SAS will process the request and issue letters of accommodation to instructors. For more information on support services and accommodations for students with disabilities, visit <http://www.ucalgary.ca/access/>. Students who require accommodation in relation to their coursework based on a protected ground other than disability should communicate this need in writing to their instructor. The full policy on student accommodations is available at http://www.ucalgary.ca/policies/files/policies/student-accommodation-policy\_0.pdf
