Land Acknowledgement

The University of Calgary resides upon the traditional territories of the people of the Treaty 7 region in Southern Alberta, which includes the Blackfoot Confederacy (comprising the Siksika, Piikani, and Kainai First Nations), the Tsuut’ina First Nation, and the Stoney Nakoda (including the Chiniki, Bearspaw, and Wesley First Nations). The City of Calgary is also home to Métis Nation of Alberta, Region III. The University of Calgary is situated on land adjacent to where the Bow River meets the Elbow River, and that the traditional Blackfoot name of this place is “Moh’kins’tsis”, which we now call the City of Calgary.

"ii’ taa’poh’to’p", the Blackfoot name of the University of Calgary’s Indigenous Strategy, was bestowed and transferred in ceremony by Kainai Elder, Andy Black Water on June 21, 2017. The name signifies a place to rejuvenate and re-energize while on a journey. Traditionally, these places are recognized as safe, caring, restful - and offer renewed energy for an impending journey. In a traditional naming ceremony, transitioning into the new name is a journey of transformation towards self-actualization.

Course Description

This course introduces students to the field of women’s studies, and provides a helpful overview of relevant issues and concerns. The creation of women’s studies is one of the significant achievements of the second-wave feminist movement. Feminists worked for many years to create a place in the academy to study and reflect on issues of gender, race, sexuality, and class, both globally and locally. While there will be a strong emphasis on issues of gender and sexuality in this class, we will also be exploring other issues such as race. And because the discipline of women’s studies has been connected with feminist community organizing and social change work, we will examine how the field of women's studies connects academic and activist work.

Prerequisites
None
Course Learning Outcomes

- To understand key issues in the lives of people marginalized due to their gender and/or sexuality.
- To gain knowledge of important historical forces and events.
- To appreciate the practical implications of feminist analysis in everyday life.
- To consider gender, race, and sexuality, in both social terms and personal terms.
- To develop critical thinking skills, grounded in principles of social justice.
- To become a more conscious, self-reflective person.
- To create a vibrant learning community based on participation, empathy, and respect.
- To understand what social change is, and how it has impacted, and continues to impact, our world and our lives.

Content Warning

Some of the materials and topics in this class may include explicit written or audio-visual content (violence, sexuality, objectionable or illegal conduct). If these materials make you uncomfortable, you are encouraged to speak with the professor. You will not be exempt from any assigned work but we will work together to accommodate your concerns. This class respects difference and diversity while welcoming thoughtful, critical debate and discussion.

Participatory Classroom Philosophy

In our participatory classroom, students will be invited to engage in a number of ways, from dyads to small groups to full class. Engagement is encouraged, and not forced. Aligning personal goals with our braver space guidelines and intentions will be helpful.

Required/Recommended Texts:

All readings are available on D2L. It is the responsibility of the student to secure permanent copies of the readings at the beginning of term, and deal with any technological malfunctions; the instructor cannot help with this.

Course Assessment

This course offers no re-takes or make-up assignments. Requests for extensions on assignments should be done well ahead of the due date. If you wish to discuss a grade with the instructor, you must do so during office hours. You will be expected to reflect upon your assigned grade in the context of the course guidelines and any rubrics.

Unless otherwise stated, assignments for the D2L drop-box must be submitted by 11:59 p.m. on the due date.
Assignment Overview

- Participatory classroom assignment - 10 percent of final grade, 2 parts, due May 13 and June 12, D2L drop-box, 11:59 p.m.
- Individual quiz - 10 percent of final grade, in class on May 13.
- Bystander training - 10 percent of final grade, online quiz due May 20 at 11:59 p.m.
- GBA+ - 10 percent of final grade, online course completed and certificated uploaded by May 22 at 11:59 p.m.
- Library training quiz - 10 percent of final grade, online quiz due June 3 at 11:59 p.m.
- Two group quizzes on reading comprehension - in class, 12.5 percent each, 25 percent of final grade, in class, first quiz May 27, second quiz June 5.
- Final take-home exam - 25 percent of final grade, handed out June 17, due June 19, D2L drop-box, 11:59 p.m.

Participatory Classroom Assignment

Considering that this is a participatory classroom, and that the success of a participatory classroom depends on each individual, this assignment will provide the chance for students to set out their intentions for the term, in terms of attendance, participation, engagement, and adherence to the student guidelines/braver space guidelines, and then assess whether they met those expectations. The first part of the assignment is due May 13, D2L, 11:59 p.m., and will consist of roughly one double-spaced page. In it, the student will set out their plan for their level of attendance, participation, engagement, and adherence. In the second part of the assignment, which is due June 12, D2L, 11:59 p.m., students will begin by assigning themselves a letter grade that they believe accurately reflects their attendance, participation, adherence to student guidelines/braver space guidelines, and depth of learning. Remember: students are giving themselves a grade for the 10 percent of their mark that pertains to issues of participation and engagement, as opposed to the grade they believe they deserve for the entire course. Students will assess how well they met the expectations they set out in the first part of the assignment, and explain their rationale for the grade. The student’s assessment will be considered in light of the instructor’s observations, and the instructor will have final say concerning the grade.

Bystander Intervention Training

UCalgary Strong (http://www.ucalgary.ca/currentstudents/ucalgarystrong) is committed to bringing cutting-edge practices in health and wellness to campus. One exciting aspect of this initiative is that many of their strategies are built upon feminist social justice practices. Bystander Intervention Training is one such practice. This assignment utilizes the university’s own training program with an added element of critical reflection and learning self-assessment. We will have a chance to go through the bystander training in class. Afterwards, there will be a quiz available on our D2L site; students can complete the quiz after the training has taken place. The deadline for completing the quiz is May 20, 11:59 p.m.

GBA+

Status of Women Canada offers online certification in “Gender-Based Analysis Plus.” The training program takes approximately 2 hours; there is a required quiz at the end for which you must receive a grade of at least 80% to receive your certification. Submit a copy of your certification in the D2L Dropbox labeled “GBA+” to receive your grade. https://www.swc-cfc.gc.ca/gba-acs/course-cours-en.html. The deadline for completing GBA+ and uploading the relevant documents is: May 22, 11:59 p.m. Students who complete this assignment by the due date will earn an A grade (that is, 93 out of 100 points) on this assignment.
Individual Quiz

Students will complete an in-class quiz on May 13. The focus of this quiz is the course outline and the Student Code of Conduct Agreement. Students will be prepared to discuss the general concepts of the Student Agreement, braver space, the participatory classroom, the course learning outcomes, and the assignments for this term.

Library Training Quiz

We will work with the Women’s Studies librarian this term, so that students can strengthen their understanding of citations and research. This online quiz will be based on the work done with the librarian. It will be completed through D2L, and the due date is June 3, 11:59 p.m.

Group Quizzes

These closed-book, in-class quizzes will occur on May 27 and June 5. Students will be asked to explain general concepts, ideas, and theories from the articles they have read that day. This will not involve memorizing word for word from the text, but will be a chance for students to explain these concepts in their own words. The quizzes will be done in the small groups that were set near the beginning of the term. Keep in mind that it is important to prepare well for these quizzes, given that your own grade and the grade of your fellow students depend upon it. If you are concerned that your reading comprehension skills are not strong, you would be well-advised to meet with the instructor during office hours, to get helpful ideas about how to strengthen them. Each quiz is worth 12.5 percent of the final grade.

Final Exam

This will be handed out in class on June 17. The exam will be set up in such a way that students are able to provide the instructor with evidence of their ability to explain course material in their own words, illustrate the depths of their critical/holistic thinking skills, and show that they are able to make connections between our course readings, our class discussions, and important social issues of our day. The exam will be due at 11:59 p.m., on June 19, and must be submitted through the Dropbox of our D2L site.

Policy for Late Assignments

Unless otherwise stated, no extensions will be granted on assignments except in cases of documented medical or personal distress. Failure to submit on time will result in a grade of F (zero).

Failure to complete all of the required exams and assignments (including Engagement) may result in a grade of F (zero) in the course. If you complete all assignments but receive more than two Fs, the professor reserves the right to give you a final grade of F.

It is the student’s responsibility to keep a copy of all assignments in case of loss by any cause.
Grading system:

This course uses a combination of letter and number grades, according to the chart below. The university’s Undergraduate Grading System is available here:

In most cases where the final letter grade for the course is less than 1% from the next higher grade, the professor will round-up. This course does not use a bell curve – whatever mark you get is it.

Women’s Studies Program Course Policies

Course Content:

This class respects difference and diversity while welcoming thoughtful, critical debate and discussion. No one person’s right to their beliefs may supersede another person’s right to security and dignity.

When in a classroom dedicated to social justice education, conflict will happen. That is part of a healthy, dynamic, questioning space of learning and discovery. You are encouraged to hold onto your own personal beliefs, but recognize that there will be differences of opinion and experience.

A university classroom holds high standards of research, evidence, and analytical proof. Students need to listen attentively, respectfully, and critically to the evidence provided in class lectures, readings, discussions, and other materials.

Some of the materials and topics in this class may include explicit content (violence; sexuality; profanity; blasphemy; objectionable or illegal conduct). If you feel any materials may cause you distress or severe discomfort, you are encouraged to speak with the professor and/or to take measures to ensure that you feel braver in the classroom. You will not be exempt from any assigned work but we will work together to accommodate your concerns.

If you feel that you need more support than can be provided by the classroom or the instructor, you are encouraged to take advantage of some of these resources:

If you have a serious concern about the instructor’s conduct, you may speak in full confidence to the Head of the Department of Philosophy (phildept@ucalgary.ca) Please note, Women’s Studies is a program that is administered by the Department of Philosophy.

Student Code of Conduct Agreement, also known as the Student Agreement

A Student Code of Conduct Agreement is part of this course, available on D2L. It is a required component of the class (see “Engagement”).

Students are expected to attend class regularly. They must come prepared and ready to work.

Responsibility for fulfilling the requirements for all aspects of the course resides with the student. The professor will not give out lecture notes, repeat information, nor provide replacement copies of material that was provided during regular class meetings.

Plagiarism, defined as using any source whatsoever without clearly documenting it, is a serious academic offense. Consequences include failure on the assignment, failure in the course and possible suspension or expulsion from the university. Please refer to the following information and make sure you are familiar with the statement on plagiarism provided at the end of the syllabus.
http://www.ucalgary.ca/pubs/calendar/current/k-2-1.html

Course Technology

Students are welcome to bring portable word processing devices (tablets, laptops, airbooks, Acer, anything you got) to take notes in class. Using your device to go online for any reason – unless the instructor gives you direction to do so for class-related purposes – is prohibited and may result in having your privileges to use your device in class revoked and/or you being removed from the class. See the Student Code of Conduct Agreement for more details.

A D2L portal has been set up for this course that allows for group correspondence, course announcements, class materials, assignment submissions and grading, and other forms of communication. Students are expected to check D2L before class time for any last minute changes or cancellations. D2L only uses @ucalgary email addresses.

Student-Instructor Communication

Appropriate communication procedures are described in detail in the Student Code of Conduct Agreement. The instructor’s preferred means of communication is first by scheduled office hours, then by a pre-arranged meeting time (only if the professor’s office hours conflict with another course), and then by email.

The instructor will endeavor to respond to emails within three business days after receiving the message. If the student emails a question that is fully addressed by the syllabus, Student Code of Conduct, or posted on D2L, the instructor will not reply. Therefore, if you don’t receive a response within three business days, that probably means you can find the answer somewhere yourself. The instructor may respond to your email query with the request that you come meet with them in person to discuss. Please note, that the university’s regular business hours are 8:30 a.m.-4:30 p.m..

Braver Space Guidelines

“Braver Space” principles recognize that everyone brings different resiliencies and capacities to a group setting. We must all bring our personal bravery into the classroom space, and be mindful of what that means specifically to us. This does not mean sharing or participating in a way that violates personal boundaries (yours or another person’s), nor cajoling others into participating in ways that are not conducive to their personal bravery. It means being respectful, self-aware, and mindful of the classroom dynamic and your place in it. Some guidelines are provided below.

Do not make assumptions about other people’s identities and life experiences. That includes but is not limited to race, gender, sexuality, physical ability, mental and emotional well being, spirituality or religiosity, age, citizenship status, and reproductive capabilities.

Recognize that language is a powerful tool in social justice education. It also changes as new issues and greater clarity develop. Therefore, if you need to correct language use, do so respectfully; and if you are corrected, accept that correction respectfully.

Becoming self-aware is a continual process, and everyone is at a different point on their personal journey. Individuals make mistakes. Our assumption in this classroom is that we are all moving forward with our best intentions. If someone says something that may be construed to be problematic, we will raise questions and/or concerns about the language, not about the person.

Make an effort to speak from the position of “I” (not the generalized “you” or “people”) and to clarify any statements you make, using verifiable evidence and experience. Making a sweeping judgment on a class or group of people is not acceptable.

Address people without assuming their gender. Some ways to do this:
- Don’t refer to groups as guys, ladies, women, men, etc. Instead use gender-neutral terms like “folks,” “all,” “everyone,” etc.
• Refer to individuals whose gender has not been disclosed to you in gender-neutral ways such as “the person who said...”

Address people using the gender pronouns they have indicated for themselves. Offer your gender pronouns to others to make it a braver space to talk about gender pronouns. Some gender pronouns include, but are not limited to:

• they/them/theirs
• she/her/hers
• ze/hir/hirs
• he/him/his
• ey/em/eirs

Similarly, if you are unsure about any aspect of a person’s identity and how they would prefer to be addressed, ask respectfully. This can apply to Indigeneity, race or ethnicity, faith or spirituality, physical or mental ability, or other vectors of their identity. When speaking in more general terms, if you are corrected, accept the correction graciously. If you are questioned about your choice of general or self-identification, provide a succinct and respectful explanation.

Provide discrete and succinct content warnings if you will be talking about topics that may be traumatic for some and the content is not already apparent. Examples of such topics could include abuse, violence, addiction, suicide, mental health, transphobia/homophobia/other forms of discriminatory behaviours. An example of wording could be, “Please note that there will be (x) content in my discussion.”

Respect your own and others’ physical, mental, and emotional boundaries. Please speak up in a respectful way if you are uncomfortable, seek support if you want/need it, and engage in self-care as required, while still maintaining your commitment and focus on the participatory classroom.

Academic Honesty
Cheating or plagiarism on any assignment or examination is regarded as an extremely serious academic offense, the penalty for which will be an F on the assignment or an F in the course, and possibly a disciplinary sanction such as probation, suspension, or expulsion. See the relevant section K.5 on ‘Academic Misconduct’ in the current University Calendar http://www.ucalgary.ca/pubs/calendar/current/k-5.html.

Intellectual honesty requires that your work include adequate referencing to sources. Plagiarism occurs when you do not acknowledge or correctly reference your sources. If you have questions about correct referencing, consult your instructor.
